MISSION STATEMENT

Our mission is to spread the gospel of Christ in thought, word, and deed to our community and the world.

For All the Saints

On November 1 we celebrate All Saints' Day, and one of the hymns we often sing is "I sing a song of the Saints of God," in which we sing "one was a soldier, and one was a priest, and one was killed by a fierce, wild beast." We also sing that we can find them "in schools and in lanes or in shops or at tea." In other words, saints are just ordinary people who did a great job of being who they were supposed to be. Not all saints were what we might call "saintly." Some had a shady past, or what might be considered "personality defects," but then something happened in their lives that turned them down another path. Others just moved along on a steady path and stepped up when leaders were needed. They were fair, they were honest, they were generous with their time and efforts. Some were good family members, some helped strangers, and some took care of animals.

You don't get to be a saint by ticking off a checklist of qualifications. In fact, saints are not usually even trying to reach sainthood! They are just toiling away in the place that they landed on this earth, and doing the best they can to be good and loving people in whatever situation they find themselves. So, this month, let us honor the saints of the past and work at being your best self. And on All Saints' Day, we'll be singing about you!

EVERYDAY SAINTS

Everyday things, relationships with other people, daily work, love of our family — all these may breed saints.

Jesus of Nazareth taught us to live every hour of the day as saints.

Every hour of the day is useful and may lead to divine inspiration, the will of the Father, the prayer of contemplation — holiness. Every hour of the day is holy. What matters is to live it as Jesus taught us. And for this, one does not have to shut oneself in a monastery or fix strange and inhumane [regimens] for one's life. It is enough to accept the realities of life. Work is one of these realities; motherhood, the rearing of children, family life with all its obligations are others. —Carlo Carretto, *Letters from the Desert

FROM THE EDITOR

We are entering the holiday season, and thoughts of Christmas shopping and doing things in the community and for our families are on our minds. Giving is the hallmark of this time, so I thought I'd offer up some quotes on the subject from some famous people. Something to think about when we get some quiet time in between the madness!

--Rodney Dudley

No one has ever become poor from giving. —Anne Frank

For it is in giving that we receive. — Francis of Assisi

To get the full value of joy, you must have someone to divide it with. —Mark Twain

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burdens of another. —Charles Dickens

We make a living by what we get. We make a life by what we give. —Winston Churchill

When we give cheerfully and accept gratefully, everyone is blessed. —Maya Angelou

Those who are happiest are those who do the most for others. —Booker T. Washington

Mankind was my business; charity, mercy, forbearance, and benevolence were all my business. The deals of my trade were but a drop of water in the comprehensive ocean of my business! —The Ghost of Jacob Marley in A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens

Praying with Your Eyes Open

The air is getting crisper by the day, and the signs of autumn are all around us in their glorious beauty. Autumn is my favorite season of the year, because the heat of summer gives way to the coolness of the days and nights. I love to watch as God uses the paintbrushes of nature to give us the beautiful colors of fall in a combination that always takes my breath away. For example, there's a tree on Middle Road (don't ask me what kind – I never know) I see every morning walking Kookie, and I always look forward to seeing it in the fall when the green leaves begin to turn a brilliant red. Every morning, I can't wait to see if the tree has become totally emblazed in that vibrant red that makes me stop in my tracks and say, "God you have outdone yourself today."

Or, looking out my kitchen window at the trees in the cemetery is a gift this time of year. The red, gold and yellow colors all mixed together to make up God's canvas of color. I love to look at the deer as they begin to grow their winter coats and prepare for the winter. The squirrels packing away their food for the winter and even the geese (yes even them) as they parade around the cemetery grounds like they own the place – all of that brings me joy this time of year.

This all reminds me, yet again, that God is always before us – every minute of our days and in every event in our lives. All we have to do is open our eyes to see it. I call it praying with my eyes open. You should try it. Instead of hurrying on to the next item or event on your to do list, take a moment and stop; slow down and look at what the Almighty can do. Really take the time to see what God is doing before your very eyes. What you will find is God is giving you a beautiful gift every moment of every day --- all you have to do is look!

Blessings,

Mother Diane+

COUNTING BLESSINGS

I was brought up in a Christian environment where, because God had to be given pre-eminence, nothing else was allowed to be important.

I have broken through to the position that because God exists, everything has significance. —Evangeline Paterson

Vestry Visions

“God doesn’t want you to GO to church, God wants you to BE his church!”

Author Unknown

But what does that mean? Yes, we all do our best to attend a service, whether it is the 5:00 PM on Saturday that offers the beautiful Taizé service, the 8:00 AM Sunday service for the early risers and those on a mission to get things done that day, or possibly the 10:00 AM service for those who might hit the snooze button several times or just enjoy the family service. Yes, we GO to church.

But how do we BE the church? Well that’s the easy and, the most rewarding part. We have some of the best outreach ministries in which you can provide a little or a lot of your time depending on what you have to give. Maybe you have an hour or two to help out a fellow parishioner through St. Barnabas’ Buddies, a shift at Our Daily Bread food pantry or the Thrift Shop. We have the Altar Guild, the beautiful choir, or maybe sponsoring coffee-hour one weekend, usher, or read at a service. “Many hand’s make light work!” These words can’t be truer, especially when the church and our community benefits from these programs.

Many of our programs like the ones mentioned above are year-round, but then there are times that we need to have a big push in a short period of time and we need all hands on deck. Do I dare say that the holidays are around the corner? With that in mind, our annual outreach programs kick in like Thanksgiving Baskets, the Giving Tree and our biggest of them all: CHRISTmas Trees!!!! This is the biggest fundraising event for our church and requires as many hands as possible for a two-week period. There is the yard setup, the unloading of the trees, and then the actual selling. But no fear, these trees have sold themselves for over 40 years which is why we have a high-rate of return customers every year. And the best part, you can make it a family event or maybe an event with friends. This is also an excellent opportunity for those in middle or high school to earn community service hours. Many shifts need to be covered and the more the merrier. As in the past, look for the sign-up board in the Parish Hall, or if you are a bit more tech savvy, we will soon be setting up our SignUpGenius page and you will be able to pick a day and shift time and you’re good to go.

If you have any questions, feel free to reach out to the committee or any other parishioners that might have helped in the past. We look forward to seeing many “new” hands on deck!

FOOD PANTRY OPEN HOUSE

Thoughts from the Front Porch

Father Brian Barry

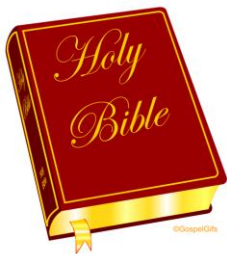

October is my favorite time of year. It's been a little warmer than usual, but I enjoy sitting outside on my front porch in sweat pants and a sweat shirt, with a cup of tea and a book. I am a voracious reader by nature, and frequently run into the problem of more books than shelf-space. I've switched to Kindle for my sci-fi and fantasy books, but I prefer an actual book where it concerns my spiritual reading. My study Bible is filled in the margins with my own notes, and almost every other phrase is underlined. I've been doing a lot of spiritual reading lately, and I've been spending a lot of time with my Bible. So naturally, my front porch thoughts have turned to scripture and, in particular, how we study it.

We are blessed as Christians in the 21st century to have Bibles upon Bibles at our fingertips. We can look up passages online at Biblegateway.com. We have Daily Prayer apps for our phones, like Mission St. Clare (Holly and I both highly recommend this free app, by the way), that provide us with the Daily Office service from our Book of Common Prayer, and include all of the scriptural readings from our Daily Office Lectionary. We have study Bibles in every conceivable translation (I recommend the Harper Collins NRSV Study Bible, though some prefer the Oxford). That is the tip of the iceberg. With all of that in mind, it has always puzzled me that out of the thousands of disparate denominations and churches within the United States, Episcopalians (despite being the best-educated American Christians) fall almost dead last in terms of biblical literacy. That is astounding to me, as Jesus commands us to love the Lord our God with "all your mind." (Matt. 22:37) When we love someone, do we not do all we can to learn more about them?

It is important in an age of misinformation to be Christians who study our Bibles. There are too many Biblical literalists who use the Bible as a weapon. There are too many conspiracy theorists who attack our faith with misinformation (no, the Council of Nicaea was not the Church Council that threw out books from the Bible). There are too many people who have never studied the Bible, coming up with crack-pot theories about the stories contained within (no, Mary Magdalene was not the "Beloved Disciple" in John, though she is a Saint worthy of emulation). And there are too many propagandists out there willing to use the Bible to justify whatever agenda they have in mind. And this is nothing new: "But false prophets also arose among the people, just as there will be false teachers among you, who will secretly bring in destructive opinions... In their greed they will exploit you with deceptive words." (2 Peter 2:1, 3)

Where are we, at St. Ann's, in terms of Biblical literacy? It is my prayer that God would kindle a flame in our hearts, to want to learn more, so that we can truly be said to love the Lord with our entire heart, our entire soul, and our entire mind.

Hold fast to the Bible as the [main] anchor of your liberties; write its precepts on your hearts and practice them in your lives. To the influence of this book we are indebted for all the progress made in true civilization, and to this we must look as our guide in the future. —Ulysses S. Grant

Thanksgiving Food Baskets

Thanksgiving is quickly approaching and together as a community we would like to gather a cornucopia, to share with our neighbors in need. St. Ann's food pantry will be coordinating the effort to distribute food baskets for Thanksgiving.

As we give thanks for our many blessings, please don't forget those who struggle to feed their families. We will again use a Giving Tree/Turkey to collect food donations. Please choose items from the Giving Turkey (located in the Parish Hall) and return item to church. Please leave Thanksgiving donations in the basket--NOT the red wagon. Also, see the sign-up sheet in the Parish Hall.

We need all non-perishable donations by Sunday, November 12th

PEANUT BUTTER AND JELLY MINISTRY

By Mary Mattarella (631-590-0076)

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

I am very happy to report to you that our local mission work continues to grow, and this would not be possible without your support in prayers and donations. We have been able to give out over $1,200 in personal hygiene products, food and clothing. All of the homemade scarves, hats and gloves are especially appreciated. Your generosity has been spread to Brentwood, Wantagh, Central Islip, Riverhead, Ronkonkoma, Mastic, Shirley, Quogue, and more.

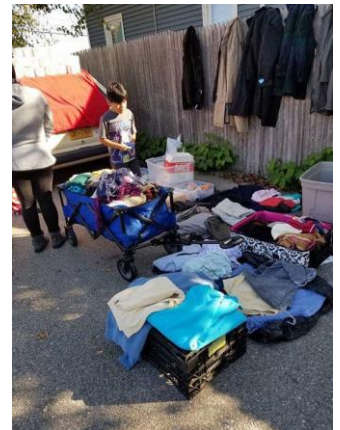

SNAP (Food Stamps) recipients have recently had their benefits cut, so more of their income has had to go to feed their families, leaving less money for hygiene and other supplies. Many of these families must work and spend a minimum of 20 hours serving in an approved social services function (such as the Salvation Army Stores and other agencies), to be eligible for any benefits. This is besides whatever work they have--plus taking care of their children. When I--and any of my volunteers--hand out your generous donations, without any requirements, the recipients are so overcome with gratitude and joy! It is undeniable, the presence of Jesus Christ. You can feel it, almost touch it.

Recently, I had the honor of serving God's people, with my church Brother, Rick Magnani. We worked together at the Patchogue site, located behind Burlington Coat Factory. Rick was truly amazing, and relayed to me how touched he was with this joyous work. Rick was truly needed that day, and an answer to prayer. A couple of days earlier, I was notified by phone that Social Services, had recently placed a lot of new people in that area, and that I should expect over 80 people. Well, Rick and I saw over 150 souls that day! All of you were with us, through your generous donations and prayers.

This winter, we will need as many coats, boots, scarves, mittens, gloves, sweatshirts, jeans, blankets, and hand warmers as possible. I am seeing an increase in Veterans being homeless. If any of you can volunteer in that area, please let me know. Specifically, I need help in making phone calls, relaying info to Operation Homefront and wounded warriors.

If you feel God calling you to help our immigrant population, I need help in writing index cards, to help people learn English. You would simply write a word in Spanish on one side of the card, while writing same word in English on the other. I usually stick to colors, days of the week, numbers, road signs, salutations, holidays, etc. If you would like to be a prayer warrior, I can provide you with a list of specific requests. One of the things that I have noticed, as all of the evil and negativity prevail in the news, more and more good and loving people are making themselves known, volunteering to help, donating cash and goods, and praying. In the midst of all the harsh realities of poverty, love prevails. Poor people are honest and only take from me what they need, not one of my recipients care what color I am or what I have on, and each and every one says thank you! Many hug and kiss me, and all walk away with a smile. If you would like to look into the face of Christ, come with me, and share this awesome, shining love. Thank you all for keeping me strong!

With Love, The Very Festive Mary

Numbered lists grab our attention. In the checkout aisle or on the internet, we gravitate toward headings such as “10 ways to lose weight by summer!” or “3 simple steps to acing that test!”

Ancient Jewish sages urged people to count out and speak at least 100 blessings, or statements of gratitude, each day. What would happen if we intentionally listed 100 blessings daily? Can you imagine?!

What if the first blessing we counted was simply the day itself? “Thank you, God, for this brand new day!” “Bless my use of this day, Lord, that I might glorify you.” Scripture encourages such awareness and promises an additional blessing in return: “Teach us to number our days, that we may gain a heart of wisdom” (Psalm 90:12, NIV). —Heidi Mann

Erastus St. John, age 82, died December 26, 1961, in the terminal building at MacArthur Airport where he was employed as an executive with Central Aviation. Mr. St. John was a resident of the Delevan on Foster Avenue. He was survived by two brothers—John T. of Rochester, Harry W. of San Mateo, California, and a sister, Miss Maria St. John of Rochester.

Private services were conducted by The Rev. Mr. Joseph Bond, Rector Emeritus of St. Ann's Episcopal Church in Sayville. He was laid to rest next to his wife Elena in St. Ann's Cemetery.

Thank You, Veterans!

On Veterans Day, we honor men and women who have served and sacrificed to one of America's armed services.

On November 11, 1918, America and her allies signed a truce with German leaders, ending World War I. In 1919, President Wilson decided the United States should remember with gratitude the end of that war and honor military members by marking Armistice Day, or "truce" day. In 1954, Congress changed the name to Veterans Day, honoring veterans of every era.

TIME TO THANK, TIME TO SHARE

Thanksgiving is a time to share. A roasted turkey stuffed with care, potatoes, yams and buttered rolls are passed around in festive bowls. But first we thank our God above and share with others his great love. The dish served last is always best — a slice of pie for every guest.

—MaryAnn Sundby
